Back Of The Year Danny Holman

Standing six feet, two inches tall and weighing in at 170 pounds is San Jose State College's outstanding quarterback, a resident of Carmel—Danny Holman.

He attended Carmel schools—Sunset and Carmel High—then Monterey Peninsula College before entering San Jose State this Fall. "San Jose is close to home, and I have many friends there," he stated.

This week, Danny was named outstanding back of the year by the Northern California Football Writers Association. Earlier in the season he was named both California and national back of the week.

In Carmel, Danny was well known, not only for his football ability, but for his excellent skill in golf. "I don't have enough time for golf right now, but in the Spring I plan to play. When I was a young boy, I used to follow my dad around on the Pebble Beach courses. He started me out in golf. Last year, I entered the Monterey Peninsula Open Championship and came in second. But before that, I was first in the Peninsula Junior Championship Golf Tournament." Danny hesitated a second. "But, I like football better! The season, the crowd, the excitement, the

How Many $$$$$ Does Drink Cost?

How much do the people of the United States spend each year on "cheer?" More than the war in Viet Nam is costing. But these are not related facts.

According to a special economics report released by the Bank of America, the estimated total consumption of distilled spirits will reach a record high this year. Expected to have gone "down the hatch" are 310 million gallons of distilled spirits in this country by the time the New Year starts. This is up five percent from 1965.

Most of this increase will be from imported and "light" spirits rather than American whiskeys. Bourbons and blends, it is estimated, will, for the first time, account for less than half of the distilled spirits consumed in the United States, a trend that started several years ago. An increasing share of the market will be taken over by imported Scotch and Canadian whiskeys and by "white" spirits—gin and vodka.

Vodka, which was practically unknown in this country 15 years ago, probably will overtake gin in popularity in 1966, the Bank of America report states.

How much does all this "cheer" cost the people of the United States. Well, take the 310 million gallons expected to be consumed in 1966, multiply this sum by a $20 per gallon figure—or $15 per gallon for "special" purchases.

Restaurant Fire In Carmel Today

A dismayed proprietor, Farhad Fozounmayeh, this morning surveyed all that remained of his Pernille's Restaurant following a fire to which the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department responded at 6.09 a.m.

"As far as I'm concerned it's all gone," he said forlornly.

The alarm was turned in by Ed Neroda who drove past the restaurant at the southwest corner of San Carlos and Sixth about 6 a.m. on the way to the beach for his daily morning exercise. He noticed what he thought was steam on the roof caused by the evaporation of rain. Then he glanced at a window and observed that it was "totally dark." He stopped his car, ran over to the restaurant, peered through the window and while doing so discovered the glass was hot. He ran to the fire station across San Carlos and gave the alert. Then he ran across the street to the Rinky Dink Restaurant where Jim Kelsey, battalion chief of the fire department, was already at work, to alert him, too.

Within minutes, the department was fighting the restaurant fire with three pieces of equipment and 21 men.

On arrival, the firemen found the premises involved in smoke and heat with flame in the attic over the kitchen area in which the fire centered, and where it is presumed to have started. It took the firemen a half-hour to control the fire but the clean-up work on the blaze was not completed until 8:41 a.m. when firemen returned to the fire station.

Cost of damage to the restaurant was unestimated this morning but the owner stated he was insured. The kitchen is completely gutted and the roof above is open to the sky. Heat, water and smoke damage in the restaurant and storage areas is extensive.

Neroda alerted William Arley Smith, owner of Kip's Grocery situated south of Pernille's Restaurant, after he alerted the fire department as he realized harm to the grocery store might result from the fire. This morning, Tom Brown, Kip's insurance carrier, was inspecting the storage area of the grocery where water had entered and was still dripping though the ceiling under the restaurant. He stated it was impossible, as yet, to estimate damage from water and possibly smoke. Cartons of canned goods and crackers were involved.

How long the fire had been going before Mr. Neroda saw it is difficult to determine. The restaurant was closed all day yesterday, as was customary on Wednesdays. Fozounmayeh stated that, to his knowledge, no one had been on the premises since the restaurant closed on Tuesday evening.

Planners Ponder Church Requests

Carmel planning commissioners, yesterday afternoon, held a public hearing on the application of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, for a use permit to remodel a dwelling, on the west side of Lincoln Street between Fifth and Sixth avenues, for use as a reading room, also the demolition of two other structures on the same lot and use of an adjacent lot as a parking area, according to Joseph J. Mauer, chairman of the board of the church.

He stated someone would be in the proposed reading room all day and, at noontime, he estimated 6-8 persons would use the premises and at other times possibly up to ten

Day With Dr. Berne

Last Saturday and Sunday, Dr. Eric Berne was followed about by a television camera and crew—on the beach, in his office and at home. The activity in and around Carmel was occasioned by National Educational Television's filming of "A Day in the Life of Dr. Eric Berne" for showing nationwide on educational television stations such as San Francisco's Station KQED. In the film, Dr. Berne talks about transactional analysis, the type of psychiatry which he also describes in his book," Games People Play," which has been at the top of national bestseller lists for a year and a half, also has broken all nonfiction records.

A group of Dr. Berne's friends were invited to his Hatton Fields home to be filmed in a party scene, and local psychologists and psychiatrists were filmed with him in a TA seminar sequence at his Carmel office.

WEATHER
The sun should shine at least 60% of the days but now is the rainy season and we'll have some. Temperatures, days up to 70s, nights, low 50s. Variable winds 5 to 20 mph, frequently southerly.

School Board Denies Bus Transportation To Private Schools

The Carmel Unified School District board of education voted not to give transportation to pupils attending other than public schools following a lively discussion on November 9, during which Dr. Rbbert E. Newton, chairman, presented background information.

Trustee Steven Sassoon felt the school district should give it a try. "Those children live in this school district and are eligible to use the empty seats," said Mr. Sassoon.

Dr. Hilton Bialek, another trustee, contended that, since the education code permits transportation involving private schools, the board should not be too rigid in writing its rules.

A third trustee, Mrs. Roxana Blanks, queried, "How do we decide which of ten children take two seats?"

"We ought to save our energies and resources for our important job . . .," was the attitude expressed by Clayton Neill Jr., also a trustee.

Other board action included acceptance of the resignation of Mrs. Muriel L. Dawson, secretary for the Carmel Adult School, effective March 1. The board voted to send a letter of gratitude to Mrs. Dawson who has been employed by the district since 1947.

The members also approved the request of the Middle School facilities for the 1967 Monterey Rugby Tournament; considered a petition requesting that schools prohibit the use of grounds for flying model planes; granted a holiday for classified employees the day following Thanksgiving; discussed a board ruling on employment of relatives; heard plans for the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra to give demonstration performances and to work with students, under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club.

CANNY COUNSEL by Sagacious Sal

Dear Sal,

I am middle-aged, but look years younger. I've been dating a man ten years younger than myself. He has given me happiness, and a new confidence in myself. Enclosed are samples of our writing. How do we match?

F.H.

Dear F.H.,

Your handwritings match well. You both are affectionate, peace loving people.

Because of dating customs in our country—older men preferring young women—and the man shortage prevalent at this time, the charming, mature, middle-aged woman finds little source for male companionship in her life. Ten years is not too great an age span during the mature years. You and your friend are both adults, and old enough to know what you are doing.

(If a marriage results from this attachment, be sure to keep your "separate property" separate, just in case!)

Dear Sal,

Sometimes I write like my mother, sometimes like myself, and sometimes in a very "creative manner." You analyze handwriting. What does this mean?

K.P.

Dear K.P.,

This variation in your writing indicates that you can't make up your mind how to express yourself, when you write, and I suspect, when you do many other things. This could indicate that you are experimenting with different personality expressions in an attempt to find yourself.

Society today, with its conformity, sets up so many rules for people to follow, that often, in the process of becoming adults, people have no concept of their real identity. Honest emotions are suppressed in personalities, and people live as if they were in a "popularity contest" with the Joneses.

Have the courage to develop, and expand yourself toward maturity in an honest, realistic manner.

Audubon Field Trip

Captain Elgin Hurlbert (USN Ret.) will lead the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society's field trip to Moss Landing and the mouth of the Salinas River on Saturday. Those planning to attend are asked to meet at Jetty Road and Highway One, just north of Moss Landing, at 9 a.m.

Audubon Wildlife Film Next Week

The season's second Audubon Wildlife Film, "The Bear River," will be presented in person by Allan D. Cruickshank at the Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium on Wednesday evening. This color motion picture features the mammal and bird life of the Bear River, a tributary of Great Salt Lake. There will be scenes from the river's source in the magnificent Uinta Mountains and along its 650-mile length to its mouth at the famous Bear River Migratory Bird Refuge. The area is world famous for its abundance of nesting birds.

Mr. Cruickshank, a staff member of the National Audubon Society, is noted as an author, lecturer, and wildlife photographer. He is editor of the society's Christmas Bird Count issue of Audubon Field Notes, and chief organizer of the famous Cocoa Beach count which each year leads the nation in numbers and kinds of birds observed for the Christmas Bird Count.

This Audubon Wildlife Film is sponsored by the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History as one of the participating organizations bringing these films and lectures to 250 communities throughout the United States and Canada.

The program begins at 8:00 p.m. Tickets are available at the door or at the museum. (Adults $1: students and active military, 50 cents.) For further information call 372-4212.

LINES FROM THE STUDIO

With a play as good as "The Little Foxes" and a cast as superb as ours, people sometimes wonder what the director has to do. That's like asking why you need a cook when you have fine ingredients and and a marvelous recipe. The director must know how to achieve the integration of cast and script that produces the special magic of live theatre. Last Saturday we saw this magic woven over a full house of rapt viewers and we knew that director Michael Keller felt amply requited for the piece of himself that he imparted to "The Little Foxes." You may participate in this kind of experience any Friday, Saturday or Sunday at The Studio and take a little magic home with you. Dinner and show $5.50; show alone $2.75.

Carmel Art Association Party

Former President Jessie MacGregor

The hum of happy conversation filled the main gallery of the Carmel Art Association Saturday evening when the association's board of directors was host to active and associate members, also friends, at a cocktail buffet party. President Robert Davey welcomed the guests. Colorfully decorated tables were laden with the art association's famed delicacies — seafood, cheese, pickled mushrooms—and other tempting fare. Artist members manned the bars. Besides greeting friends of many years' standing, those present made new acquaintances and wandered through the other exhibition rooms to admire the work of the non-profit group's membership.

Herb Jepko To Be At Nite Cap Gala

Scheduled for Sunday and Monday are two events of importance to the Cypress Nite Stand of the Monterey Peninsula and to myriads of people who are helped by its members. The local service organization is a charter member of the "Nitecap International Association," which was originated by Herb Jepko, radio and television personality. His interest in fellow human beings—their loneliness, isolation or despair—led to a human interest radio show over KSL, Salt Lake City, which is heard throughout the United States, in foreign countries and even on ships at sea.

The late night program receives telephone calls, suggests answers to problems and provides an interchange of ideas between the callers and listeners, the "Nite Caps." The international organization and its affiliates are an extension of the Mr. Jepko's belief in the importance of proving "there is someone who cares."

A Nite Cap banquet will be held at La Playa Hotel on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Through the courtesy of La Playa manager Loren Johnson, Mr. Jepko, his wife, Pat, and other celebrities will be here. All Nite Caps, as well as the public, are invited to join the Cypress Nite Stand at the gala event, which will include entertainment by "Charlie Brown and His Peanuts." The program will be filmed for television on November 25 over KSL-TV from Salt Lake City.

Tickets, at $4.95 per person, may be obtained at La Playa. For further information, phone 624-5645 or 375-3927.

On Monday, all profits from the Arbor Restaurant will be donated to the Cypress Nite Stand by Arbor owners John and Lilo Vance. In addition, the restaurant's waitresses will contribute their day's wages and tips. Mr. Jepko will act as host for most of the day, interviewing customers who drop in for breakfast, lunch or dinner.

Cypress Nite Stand plans to use the proceeds to provide Thanksgiving baskets for several needy families, also to stage a Christmas party for children who might otherwise have nothing to celebrate.

Several months ago, the generous Vances, with the help of other interested citizens, held a similar day for the benefit of a Monterey family. Its success inspires them now to assist the service organization in helping others.

Susan Rosh

Private services were held Tuesday in the Mission Mortuary for Susan A. Rosh, who died unexpectedly Monday morning while at the Carmel Foundation Town House.

Miss Rosh was a native of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where she was born September 15, 1891, and had been a resident of Carmel for 40 years.

For many years she was a familiar figure at the Monterey County General Hospital, where her kindness and attention to patients made her a greatly appreciated volunteer. She often collected items for their needs, transporting these from Carmel to the hospital by bus until recent years, when friends drove her to Salinas.

Miss Rosh is survived by a nephew, Carl Kaiser of McKeesport, Pennsylvania.

Until the Macks find a house to their liking, they are renting the Cagwin residence north of the high school for their family, which includes the bride's daughters, Sybil and Claire, first-graders at River School; and Mr. Mack's son, Josh, who attends Robert Louis Stevenson School. George Czar, the amiable Carmel Safeway checker who answers customers in any one of several languages, won the grand prize at the Carmel Ski Club Wine Tasting and Fashion Show on November 9. This entitles him to a round-trip flight to Tahoe for two, motel lodging for a night and a week's ski lift tickets at Heavenly Valley resort. George, who says he hasn't skied since he left Europe years ago, is hoping for a heavy snow fall in the next few weeks.

Robert S. Campbell and Merrell Lewis won the grand prize—a weekend for four at Harrahs Tahoe and one-day ski lift tickets at Heavenly Valley.

'A Movable Feast'

Friends and acquaintances from all walks of life proved a fascinating combination for a "moving party" in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hittinger Jr. on Saturday night. Lucky, indeed, were the guests who came to say farewell to the Hittingers and to share one another's potluck contributions for dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, decorated for the occasion by the talented hostess with appropriate indications of the Hittingers' imminent departure.

Mr. Hittinger, a specialist with the Monterey County Department of Agriculture and a member of the Carmel Forestry Commission, has accepted a similar position with Shasta County. The family, including young Amy and Philip, will leave after Thanksgiving to make their home in Redding.

They subsequently lived in Geneva, Switzerland, before Mr. Van Dien assumed the position of comptroller-treasurer for Chrysler Corporation in Manila three years ago. Captain Hilgers Honored

Marine Captain John W. Hilgers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph J. Hilgers of Carmel, has received the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry with Gold Star for Heroism on Operation Jay last June. He was commanding officer of "H" Company, Second Battalion, Fourth Marine Regiment of the Third Marine Division near Da Nang.

With his wife, Barbara, and their two-year-old son, Captain Hilgers was here last week on leave at the home of his parents. The couple is now establishing a home in Riverside as the Marine officer prepares to report for duty at Camp Pendleton, where he will be an instructor in Vietnamese warfare.

It was really old home week for Captain Hilgers, who graduated from Sunset, Carmel High and Monterey Peninsula College. He later received his B. A. degree from San Jose State and a B.S. degree from U. C. Berkeley.

South America 'Revisited'

A little over a year ago, a large group from the Peninsula traveled to Peru, also other sections of South America, at the invitation of the committee for "Understanding and Development of the Hemisphere." So enjoyable was the trip that those who made it often get together to reminisce; now they have organized an annual celebration.

Last Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Warner W. Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tostevin were co-hosts at a gala cocktail party at the Lees' Carmel Valley home, which was decorated for the occasion with colorful South American treasures. Among last year's travelers who were able to be present were the Raymond Smiths, the Ray Rudolphs, the G. H. Burnettes, the Ted Dureins, the Wright Fishers and Dr. and Mrs. Howard Clark. Also, Monterey Mayor Minnie Coyle, Mrs. Mary Raine, Mrs. Tillie Dougherty and Pearl Wood.

Carmel Residents Again

John and Mary Elber report it's great to be back in Carmel after living in Southern California, where both were active with the Palos Verdes Players. John plans to resume college studies, first at Monterey Peninsula College, later as a philosophy major at the University of California at Santa Cruz. While househunting, the young couple is enjoying the hospitality of John's mother, Mrs. Sara Reamer Elber. Mary, too, has local ties—she is the daughter of Mrs. Violet Weisiger and the niece of Mrs. Phyllis Jervey.

A Son For The Mayos

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mayo II became parents of their first son, Frank Vincent III, on October 25. The baby's father, a student at Humboldt State College, is doing a bit of commuting while his wife is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fritsche of Carmel Valley. Mrs. Mayo, the new baby and his sister, two and a half year old Laura, will rejoin Frank in Northern California after Thanksgiving.

Frank III is the grandson, also, of Mrs. Freda Mayo of Carmel.

To Attend Meeting

According to Miss E. M. Williams, secretary of Carmel unit No. 1, United Republicans of California, a number of local members plan to attend the organization's final 1966 quarterly board meeting this weekend at the Vandenberg Inn in Santa Maria. They are Miss Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Carvel Baldwin, Mrs. Aileen H. Sloan and Ruth Rothrock.

BEST REDUCING DIET FOR OVERWEIGHTS

Cornell University studies have produced a diet which has proved to be most satisfactory to the greatest number of weight reducing patients. The diet was developed by Dr. Margaret A. Ohlson. The Cornell diet retains the basic pattern of any well-balanced normal meal, and for reducing patients includes two servings of meat, one pint of milk, one egg, four servings of fruits and vegetables, including a citrus fruit, and a green leafy or yellow vegetable.

CARMEL VALLEY'S
WHITE OAKS THEATRE

Performing Arts Centre of Monterey County

P. O. BOX 515 OLive 9-2248 CARMEL VALLEY, CALIFORNIA ZIP 93924

It is not easy to air a problem like ours, especially when you're eight years old and so many good things are happening to you. Because you see we ARE in new buildings on a beautiful acreage less than thirty minutes away from most everyone in Monterey County...we HAVE just broken all box office records with our last two productions closing our most successful summer season...and we ARE booked into schools all across the State with a delightful production by our touring company, which has brought live theatre to more than 9,000 children in 1965 and 15,000 in 1966.

So - What's the Problem? Just This: We've grown bigger and better in an exciting venture that's UNIQUE and WORTHWHILE--both educationally and culturally--and we can't turn back. So far this year, $28,000 has been raised toward our goal.

That's a Problem? Yes! Several important foundations want to help us because we ARE unique and worthwhile. But they cannot until we can demonstrate that we have "solid community support" --and not just at the box office. (Actually, few people realize that box office receipts pay less than half the expenses of this unusual kind of theatre, since scholarships, touring shows, concerts and lectures, and even opera, are such an integral part of total community service.)

It All Adds Up to "Crisis." We are short $35,000 of the goal necessary to place us in a position to apply for foundation support--support we desperately need if we are to continue. Without your contribution, large or small, it looks like we will be turning out the lights and closing our doors by the end of this year.

It Really Boils Down to This! We hear a lot of talk nowadays about "saving culture." Well, here's your chance. There's quite a hunk of it right here on our doorstep. We stand to lose it--all of us--for the want of $35,000. That's not much if you think about what it is buying. Drive out and we'll show you. If you were in our audiences last summer, you know.

Talk about making money stretch, consider this: Your gift is worth much more than it costs. First, it helps bring us foundation money that benefits you and eventually your business. Second, your gift is completely tax-deductible (both Federal and State), since we are recognized as a non-profit, tax-exempt educational institution. Think about it!

THEN--while you have it in mind--send us your check...now, while we need it (P.O. Box 515, Carmel Valley), You'll get it all back...ten-fold...in many ways.

"LET'S TALK TURKEY!"

Thanksgiving means turkey wherever our troops are stationed, be it Viet Nam, Korea, Iceland or Turkey. So let's talk turkey and describe an old-fashioned turkey dinner such as our Pilgrim fathers first celebrated in 1621. This traditional meal for which we give thanks has preserved some of New England's finest dishes which still remain regional treasures passed down from generation to generation.

The wild turkey was king of the Pilgrim's bare board covered with a harvest horn of plenty from which fruits, dried corn, nuts and autumn leaves poured forth. Today wild turkeys are still the largest land birds in North America and native only to this continent. They were found originally by early settlers in wooded areas of eastern and southeastern America. These abounded in early times, but unrestricted hunting caused the birds to become so scarce that in 1880 laws were passed banning the sale of wild turkeys.

Nowadays in California, the Department of Fish and Game has released birds that come from Mexico, Arizona, Texas and state game farms for private hunting. The wild turkey's tang makes it the finest tasting of all game birds. This, plus its large size, and increasing wariness, makes it the most highly prized trophy among skilful hunters. Lucky are today's diners boasting a wild turkey, but most of us will be content with the high quality plump-breasted domestic turkeys so plentiful on the market.

We'll start our modern day festivities with Pilgrim Sack Posset, the first recipe Pilgrim brides learned from their mothers. A brew of dry Spanish sherry, imported from Spain to England and brought to the New World by the Pilgrims, it was the most favored mixed drink in the early American colonies. Made of sherry, cream, eggs and nutmeg it is first cousin to English toddy and our eggnog.

Roast Turkey with Wine Sauce

Allow one pound dressed turkey per serving with plenty for leftovers. Wash bird in cold running water. If frozen, thaw first. Pat dry inside with paper towels; leave outside moist. Sprinkle cavities lightly with seasoned salt and Accent. Stuff with cornbread dressing and fasten neck skin to body with small skewers. Push legs under band of skin unless this has been commercially done with wire. Place bird breast side up on rack in shallow roasting pan. Brush skin with melted butter and paprika. Don't add water to pan. Cover with cheesecloth dipped in melted butter. Roast at 325. F. 30 minutes per pound. If cloth dries, moisten it with wine basting sauce; remove cloth during last half hour to brown turkey, basting often. Watch to see it doesn't darken too much; a light juicy bronze shade is the most appetizing Remove 45 minutes before carving and place on carving board or hot platter. Cover with foil.

Basting Sauce: Two cups dry Sauterne; 3 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce; 1½ cups salad oil; juice of 1 lemon; seasoned salt to taste. Cook gently until well blended. Wild turkeys, geese, pheasants, partridge, grouse and ducks are marvelous basted with this piquant sauce, as are "everyday" Cornish hens and poultry.

Old Fashioned Cornbread Dressing

(Makes 10 Servings)

One pkg. (10 or 12 oz.) cornbread mix, ½ cup butter or margarine, melted; 1½ cup chopped celery; 1 cup chopped onion; ¼ cup chopped parsley; ½ tsp. rubbed sage; ½ tsp. dried crumbled thyme leaves; 1 tsp. salt; ¼ tsp. pepper; 1 egg; 1 cup turkey broth made from neck to which 1 chicken bouillon cube has been added. If you are not making giblet gravy, use the giblets for broth.

Make and bake cornbread as package label directs. Cool in pan, on wire rack, 25 minutes; then crumble into medium bowl. Heat the butter in medium skillet; add vegetables; saute, stirring until tender. Add to cornbread along with seasonings, beaten egg and broth. Mix well and stuff turkey cavities lightly. Do not pack tightly as dressing swells.

Whipped Yellow Turnips

Turnips, also known as rutabagas, are peeled thinly just before cooking. Use white or yellow turnips or combine both. Cube coarsely then boil in salted water until tender. Drain, season with salt, pepper, butter and snipped parsley. Beat until fluffy and serve hot topped with butter. You can combine creamy mashed white or sweet potatoes with turnips and make an all-in-one-dish.

Company Succotash

(Serves 10)

Two and a half cups boiling water, salted; 1 cup light cream; 2 pkgs. (10 oz.), each, frozen baby limas and corn; 2 tbsps. butter; salt, pepper, paprika and chopped pimiento.

Cook vegetables according to package directions in boiling water. When cooked, drain. Add cream, butter and seasonings and heat in top of double boiler. Serve hot in covered vegetable dish or from chafing dish.

Creamed Onions

Use fresh small onions or the best canned variety. Make a cream sauce, or use canned cream celery soup, diluted with a little milk (not too thin); cover cooked drained onions with sauce and season with salt, pepper, ground mace. Add packaged dry bread crumbs to make a good crust, top with butter and run baking-serving dish under broiler until nicely browned and bubbly.

Hot Sour Cream Biscuits

Two and a half cups flour; ½ tsp. salt; 1 tbsp. hot water; 1 tsp. sugar; ½ tsp. baking powder; 1½ cups sour cream.

Sift dry ingredients together. Mix soda into hot water and add it to sour cream. Add this to dry mixture. Mix lightly. Pat out into half inch rounds; place on greased baking sheet. Bake for 10 minutes at 450 F. These go well with the following salad.

Molded Fresh Cranberry Salad

(Serves 10)

One cup unpared tart apples, cored and ground; ½ cup seedless grapes, halved; 1 pkg. apple-flavored gelatin; 1 cup apple juice, heated; 1 cup sugar; 1 lb. fresh cranberries, coarsely ground.

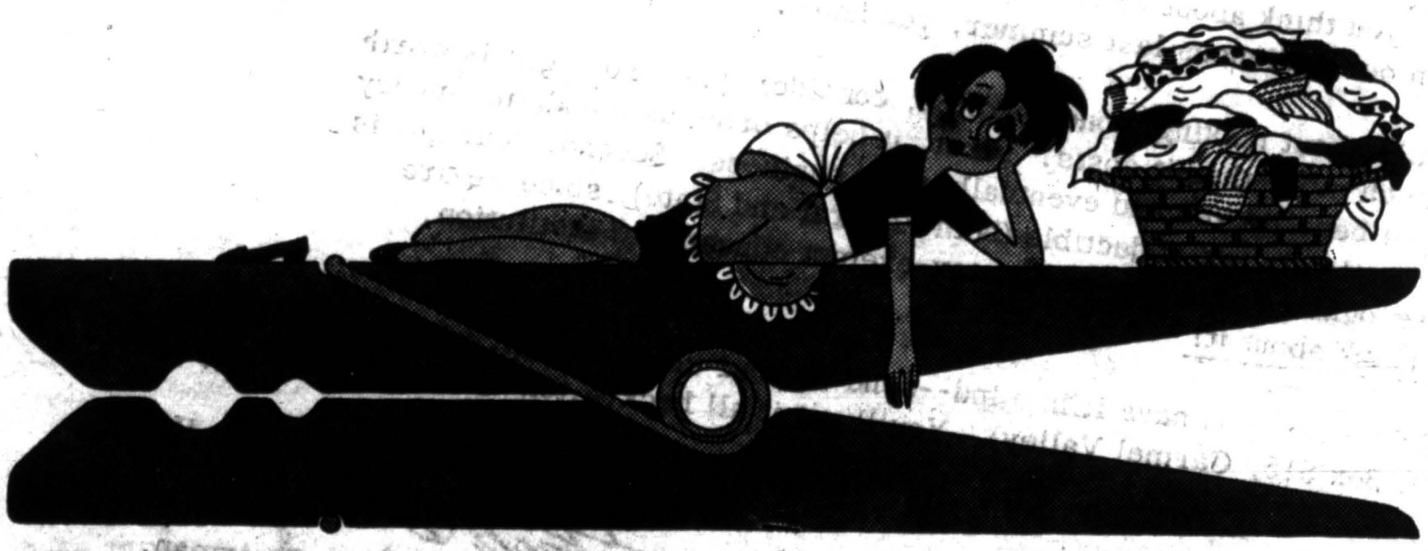

Dissolve gelatine in heated apple juice; chill until partially set to syrupy consistency. Combine fruits, put through coarse blade of food grinder; add grapes and sugar and fold into gelatine. Pour into 1-qt. mold. Chill until firm. Unmold onto curly endive and garnish with chopped walnuts. Serve mayonnaise or creamy fruit dressing on the side. If this delectable salad seems too much for dinner, save and enjoy it with cold sliced turkey. Have cranberry sauce instead with the hot turkey roast.

There are such excellent fresh bakery pies, and frozen ones also at the grocers', it saves labor and time to buy instead of baking them oneself. Make cheese balls from softened cheddar cheese for a decorative addition to this famous Thanksgiving dessert.

Services for Mrs. Etta C. (Ansel) Fletcher, who died Sunday in a local nursing home at the age of 103, were held yesterday in the Paul Funeral Chapel, with the Reverend Burkert Cree of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula officiating. He was assisted by the Reverend Richard Nance Jr. of the First Baptist Church of Pacific Grove.

A Carmel resident for some 42 years, until her health failed, Mrs. Fletcher last made her home at Monte Verde and Fourteenth. She was born May 29, 1863, in Salina, Iowa, where her Swedish father had a farm after first mining gold in California.

A loyal and lifelong Republican, she was active in the Carmel Republican Women's Club.

Long widowed, Mrs. Fletcher is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Arthur (Naomi) Caldwell of Carmel Valley; two sons, Leonard J. Fletcher of Carmel Valley and Ralph A. Fletcher of Oakland; seven grandchildren; 15 great-grandchildren; one great-great-grandchild; and several nieces and nephews, among them Mrs. Eunice Campbell of Carmel.

Concluding services will be held Saturday in Marshalltown, Iowa, followed by burial in the Marshalltown Cemetery.

Friends wishing to make donations in memory of Mrs. Fletcher may do so to the First Baptist Church of Pacific Grove.

Mrs. Ballantyne

Services for Mrs. Violet C. Ballantyne, a Carmel resident for the past 16 years, were held Saturday in the Little Chapel of the Church of the Wayfarer, with the Reverend Alexander Bryans officiating. Mrs. Ballantyne died November 10 in a local hospital after suffering a heart attack at the home she shared with her twin sister, Mrs. Maude C. Southerland.

A native of Glasgow, Scotland, she formerly resided in Kansas with her husband, the late David J. Ballantyne. After his death in 1949, she and her sister came to Carmel, where their identical appearance and friendly demeanor made them familiar figures.

Mrs. Ballantyne was a member of the Carmel Woman's Club and of the Church of the Wayfarer.

In addition to her sister, she leaves a niece, Mrs. G. E. King of Christchurch, New Zealand, and a nephew, John Dunn of Kansas City, Missouri. Another sister and former Carmel resident, Mrs. Sarah McPherson Dunn, died in 1945.

Private inurnment took place in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Thanksgiving will be observed at an 11 a.m. service on November 24 in the auditorium of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Carmel, located on Monte Verde near Sixth Street.

Sermon readings from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook will bring out the close relationship between prayer and Thanksgiving.

A period will be set aside for testimonies of thanks from individuals in the congregation, who will also join in several Thanksgiving hymns.

The soloist, James Hull, tenor, will sing "Sing Unto the Lord a New Song," by James G. MacDermid, accompanied on the organ by Bernice Holyoake, church organist.

A Golden Text from Colossians and Responsive Reading from Psalms will set the theme for the service: "Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving . . . pay thy vows unto the most High."

The Bible Lesson will include Jesus' instructions to pray "in secret," along with related passages from the Christian Science textbook:

"Christians rejoice in secret beauty and bounty, hidden from the world, but known to God . . . Prayer, watching, and working, combined with self-immolation, are God's gracious means for accomplishing whatever has been successfully done for the Christianization and health of mankind . . . To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, to-day is big with blessings" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

The service will be conducted by the First Reader of the church, Raymond McGill, and by Mrs. Clair J. Oates, Second Reader.

The Thanksgiving Day Proclamation of the President of the United States, or the Governor of California, or both, will be read by the First Reader as part of the service.

The local church cordially invites you to attend its regular Wednesday evening testimony meetings and Sunday services throughout the year.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

A sermon on "Soul and Body" will be presented at all Christian Science services this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Psalms: "Who is God save the Lord? or who is a rock save our God? It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect."

A related reading from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, states:

"Consciousness constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered. Correct material belief by spiritual understanding, and Spirit will form you anew."

Art Association One-Man Shows

by Rozika Vitarius

At the Carmel Art Association Galleries this month are two one-man shows in the Beardsley Memorial Room. One displays H. Frederick Todd's sculpture and wood carvings, the other Edward Norton Ward's oil paintings.

It is neither the technique nor the procedure that grants distinction to Todd's creations but the fact that they embody the expression of a spiritual force and a deep, rich, inner life.

Born in Argentina, Todd went with his family to Scotland while he was still very young. Most of his childhood was spent in England and the Channel Islands. In 1913, the family moved to California.

Todd studied painting under the late Armin Hansen, then turned to sculpture. Miss Charlton Fortune, who started the liturgical art movement in the United States, felt deeply touched by the purity and expressive vigor of his sculptures and carvings. Soon afterwards his work was acquired for California churches, notably Mission San Francisco and Mission San Juan Bautista.

He has two Madonnas in the Carmel show. There are two crosses made of rugged pieces of wood, but by their proportion and elegant simplicity, fine art pieces.

His small figures, also a big carved cupboard, are admired in the gallery. Almost every visitor touches the pieces as though to absorb their power with more than one sense.

The tortured upper torso of his Christ truly represents all human suffering in a strong concentrated form.

Pure art, like Todd's is never an heroic exaltation but evokes warm feeling. Form, shape and beauty are inseparable qualities and one cannot imagine one without the other.

He must be a tremendous worker. Not even the loss of his sight has been able to slow his drive to create or to stop that self-transforming inner process that leads to fullest freedom and expression.

I returned once more to the gallery and perceived again a benediction in the very heart of his creation.

Edward Norton Ward is having his second one-man show in the past two years. He is well known to artists and art collectors.

Fourteen Ward canvases are shown at the Art Association gallery. All of them are landscapes constructed by the artist-mathematician with sure and vigorous insight, producing great impact on the viewer. His favorite subjects are executed with sharp sense of the character of the particular landscape which was, for him, a starting point to create a more real or unreal existence.

This new existence is most of the time desolate, like in the "Lonely Shore, Virginia Creek," but he tempers the landscape in "Pine Creek Ranch, Navarro Homestead," also in the "Walker River Ranch," with white planes of sunny houses in order to convey the idea of man.

His colors are rich greys, yellows and greens—strong blues and whites. I found, also, an extraordinary sense of aesthetic measure in the texture which is always discreetly and finely applied, forming beautiful abstract designs and adding a third dimension.

I like best Ward's "Midnight Sea." It is the expression of a bare, immense, timeless existence—the very essence of a wild nocturnal sea. Here, with profound intensity, he applied deep blue colors turning black, producing a quality which is the same disturbing one that the natural elements represent. The white crest of wave falling back into darkness emphasizes even more the rare beauty of the whole composition. Power radiates from this picture.

A preview this evening, from 7-10 p.m., will be held at the Creative Arts of the Big Sur gallery in Vandervort Court on San Carlos Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues. On display will be batiks by John A. Horler and stoneware by Karl Lee.

Susan Santos, owner of the new gallery, was co-owner of the Galeria de Arte in Guadalajara, Mexico; manager of the Dreyer Galleries in Houston, Texas; and creator of La Cantina Gallery in Sausalito. The gallery is the realization of an idea proposed among artisans of Big Sur. It will feature the works of the artists and craftsmen of the downcoast area in constantly changing displays of their creativity. The atmosphere of the gallery is informal and conducive to discussions between clients and artisans who are exhibiting their work. Hours are 11 a.m.-5 p.m. daily except Mondays.

Beginning Tuesday, the Grove Gallery will feature an exhibit of crafts and small paintings, drawings, and collages to run through the end of December. On display will be ceramics by Barbara Farrington and John Minerva, metal work by Dennis Wagner, and weaving by Beverley Hillard.

The group show of small paintings, many done specifically for this exhibit, will include works by Janet Ament, Victor DiGesu, Joan Savo, S. C. Yuan, Gerald Wasserman, Alex Gonzales, Pat Hokenstait, Martha Senger, James Gore, Marvin Greer, and Merilyn Brown.

The Grove Gallery is located at 214 17th St., Pacific Grove, behind the Bank of America on Lighthouse Ave.

So much interest was evinced in the historical display arranged by the Carmel Arts Commission at Sunset Center during the city's anniversary celebration that the commission will retain, enlarge and change the exhibit. The collection, contributed largely by local people, may be seen Monday through Friday from 2-5 p.m. in Room 10 and 11. Individuals or groups may make appointments to view it at other times by phoning Mrs. Barbara Norberg (624-3394).

The commission would welcome additions to the collection for permanent or temporary use. Of interest are articles used early in the area's history, old maps, photographs, aerial pictures, etc.

Also still on display in Rooms 10 and 11 is an exhibition of art work by Carmel High School students.

Entry forms for "California Crafts V," the fifth biennial statewide exhibition to be sponsored by the Creative Arts League of Sacramento with the cooperation of the E. B. Crocker Art Gallery, March 18 through April 23, are now available through the Gallery, 216 O Street, Sacramento, 95814.

The show will be open to craftsmen between the ages of 18 through 30 living in the state of California. Media acceptable include ceramics, textiles, jewelry, metal, wood, enamel and glass. Entry forms are due January 10, and work must be submitted January 13-14.

CARMEL FOUNDATION TOWN HOUSE

Thanksgiving Dinner — reservations are still possible for this Town House function and may be made by telephoning 624-1588. The cost of the dinner is $2.

Exhibits at Town House, on Lincoln south of Eighth, during November are pottery by Cora Foley and creative stitchery by Alice Robertson.

Tours scheduled by Carmel Foundation include a shopping trip on December 8 to San Francisco or Oakland, whichever is preferred. The bus will leave Carmel at 8 a.m.

HACIENDA CARMEL CARMEL VALLEY

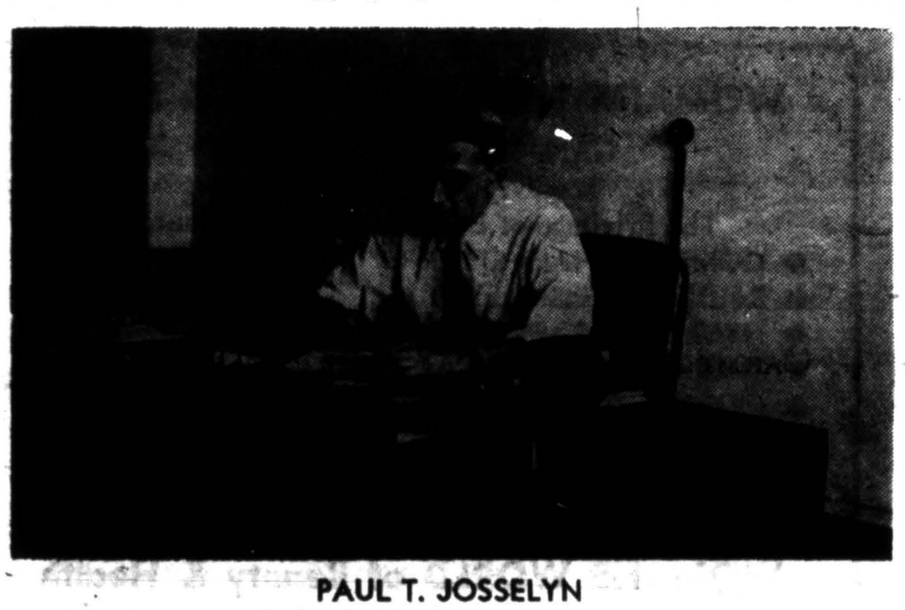

Hal Wright, Hacienda Carmel, aced No. 17 hole at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club on Thursday of last week. He used a "soft" No. 4 wood for the 160-yard shot over water to join the "Hole In One Club." Members of the foursome witnessing the ace were Frank Baker, John Otterson and George Salter. Wright said this is his first ace in 40 years of golf.

Members of the recreational activities board met on November 1 to plan activities for several months ahead. Mrs. Paul Heath presided at the meeting during which increased interest in arts, crafts, sewing, knitting, etc. was reported. Several Game and Gossip rooms have been assigned to groups engaged in these activities to supplement the facilities in Casa Fiesta.

Plans are under way to launch the Ladies' Annual Shuffleboard Tournament. Miss Marjorie Pittman is in charge.

An all day crafts show featuring creative activities of residents was staged in Casa Fiesta yesterday.

The "Sing Out Monterey" group will entertain Hacienda Carmel residents and friends in Casa Fiesta on Saturday. Those who have heard this dedicated group of young people are confident that they will provide an inspiring evening of entertainment.

PAUL T. JOSSELYN

In 1910, President William Howard Taft appointed Paul T. Josselyn to his first post in the U. S. Foreign Service. He went to China and during subsequent years saw this country become a republic and slowly adopt modern ideas. He retired in 1948 after serving as consul general in Singapore and is now a Peninsula resident. Above, he is shown seated at his last post.

FOREST HILL MANOR PACIFIC GROVE

The advantages of Forest Hill Manor are not entirely material comforts and privileges. Within its walls, Forest Hills Methodist Church exists as a fully organized institution and not a part of the Manor corporation. The minister of the Pacific Grove First Methodist Church is also pastor of the smaller congregation. All residents are welcome to attend regardless of church affiliation. Each weekday morning there is a five minute quiet time for devotions. Members also take turns as leaders, with the exception of Thursday morning, when the minister is in charge. A treasured hour comes on Sunday evening, with a vesper service at 6:15 p.m. At this time, Mrs. Werger plays records of sacred music in the lounge, a custom which came into being at the request of Manor members. Solace, comfort, congeniality and a spiritual sensitivity contribute to true retirement at the Manor.

CANTERBURY WOODS PACIFIC GROVE

Some months ago Mrs. Lillian Grace Paca proposed to a small group of writers at Canterbury Woods the idea of an anthology to be written and published by Manor residents.

Now, several months later, this dream has become a reality in the first edition of "BUDS AND BLOSSOMS" — an extraordinary group of literary selections. Illustrations by Dr. Ferdinand Haasis, Mrs. Paca and others add greatly to the delight of the book. This is a truly beautiful volume comprising short stories, excerpts from longer stories, prose and poetry—all contributed by the residents of Canterbury Woods.

PINPOINT PROFILES

Miss L. Lucile Turner

Miss L. Lucile Turner, a Carmelite since 1912 when she first built her little home, gave us a most interesting "backward look" at the Carmel of yesteryear. She sat in her favorite rocker, close to her fireplace, complete with an iron arm for holding the kettle "at ready" for the proverbial cup of tea.

As we talked she told us of her hardy pioneer parents who made their way over the rugged Oregon Trail in 1848.

Miss Turner was born in 1875 in Portland, Oregon, one of eight children. Now, at 91, she is the only survivor of the family. When talking about age she smiled and said, "Women will admit to being 29 but after that they are 'touchy' about their age—until they reach 70—then they begin to brag about it."

In the early days Carmel was not too well known. It came into more prominence shortly after the Methodist Church began holding conferences in Pacific Grove which were attended by many people from all over California. Professors from Stanford and the University of California soon discovered the "charm" of Carmel, subsequently building summer homes here.

As a young teacher of 19, Miss Turner received her first teaching position in the San Joaquin Valley. Strange as it seems, there were more teachers than positions open at that time. However, through the efforts of a relative she did receive her position but transferred a year later to a little settlement in the Santa Lucia Mountains, about 30 miles south of Big Sur. Here she taught the cattlemen's children and lived in one of their homes, according to the custom for the "school-marm" to do.

She relates it was very primitive down coast then. One time, when the men were loading goats and pigs onto a ship sailing to San Francisco, the cliff above the ocean was filled with sightseers. The vessel could not come close to the shore because of the rocky coast. So the men built a wooden trough from the cliff top to rowboats below—then tied the four feet of

REPORTS FROM RLS

DEBATE TOURNAMENT ON SATURDAY

Schools of the California central coast counties—Gilroy to San Luis Obispo—will be competing in the PFL Debate tournament at RLS this Saturday. The national debate topic—foreign aid—will be discussed by students in both Varsity (A) and Junior Varsity (B) divisions.

The Winston Churchill Forensic Club at RLS will sponsor the program, including the organization of debate rounds, working with the judges, providing time keepers and ushers, and operating as officials. General chairman will be William Kondrat, with special assistance from Dick Miller, Pete Stremmel, Larry Conningham, and Phil Fleming.

Representing Stevenson on the varsity will be Co-Captains Bill Atkins and Smith Dungan; Terry Talbot and Robert Howard who won the last tournament; Student Body President Larry Kuechler and veteran Joe Arsenio; newcomer Lonnie Foy and Grover Wickersham; with Bill Kondrat and Ed Jagels entering their first tournament.

The JV's will be represented by several junior students — Mike Bohman and Jack Booth, Geoff Haynes and Ed Rowe, Bruce Decker and Jeff Klien, Dan Robinson and Mons Cedercreutz — Erick Hass and Steve Dart, a sophomore team; and a three-man team of Joel Harris, Bill Hand and Tom Sullivan.

The public is invited to attend the tournament which will start at 8:45 a.m. and conclude with the final varsity debate to be held in the Erdman Memorial Chapel at 2 p.m. In addition to RLS faculty, the Carmel Lions, Monterey Toastmasters, MPC, St. James, The Naval Postgraduate School, the Fort Ord Activity Center and many other community groups have provided judges. Adults wishing to judge may call the school (624-1257) to be added to the list.

PARENT DAY MOST SUCCESSFUL

One of the most successful Parent Day weekends ended Sunday at RLS. Some 400 parents, friends and guests visited the school, talked with the faculty, toured the campus and viewed the fine art show that was held in the gym.

Students, under the leadership of Larry Kuechler, kept the campus humming with bright posters, ushering, guiding tours and assisting the art show directors in preparing and showing an unusual selection of pictures. Student artists Pete Stremmel, Dan Giustina, Pierre LaLande and chairman Will Hass made the signs and posters. Rick Bessom handled the ushers. Grover Wickersham prepared the photo display. Taylor Grant, along with Jerry Merksamer, set up the "Spyglass" booth. Bill Winton took official photos. Members of the freshman class assisted on tables all over the school.

Special thanks should be directed to Artist-in-Residence Richard Pearsall who guided the many preparations; Mrs. Betty Weaver who handled the "For Sale" table and many of the decorations; Mrs. Melvin Dick who chaired the Sunday hostessing; the Winblad Art Galleries of San Francisco who arranged for the showings; The Sponsors Club for serving on Saturday; and the RLS staff in general.

Highlights on Saturday included the Stevenson Glee Club, under the direction of Robert Peterson and student leader Fred Manning. The "club" includes Gary Bechtel, Taji Bugbee, Pat Clark, Tim Donahoe, Paul Erickson, David Greb, Will Haas, Bruce Hartzell, Martin Mooney, Mike Popovitch, Sandy Smith, John Urist, Bruce Wileman and Richard Miller. Manning, Popovitch and Wileman also had a trio, guitars and songs, that was happily received.

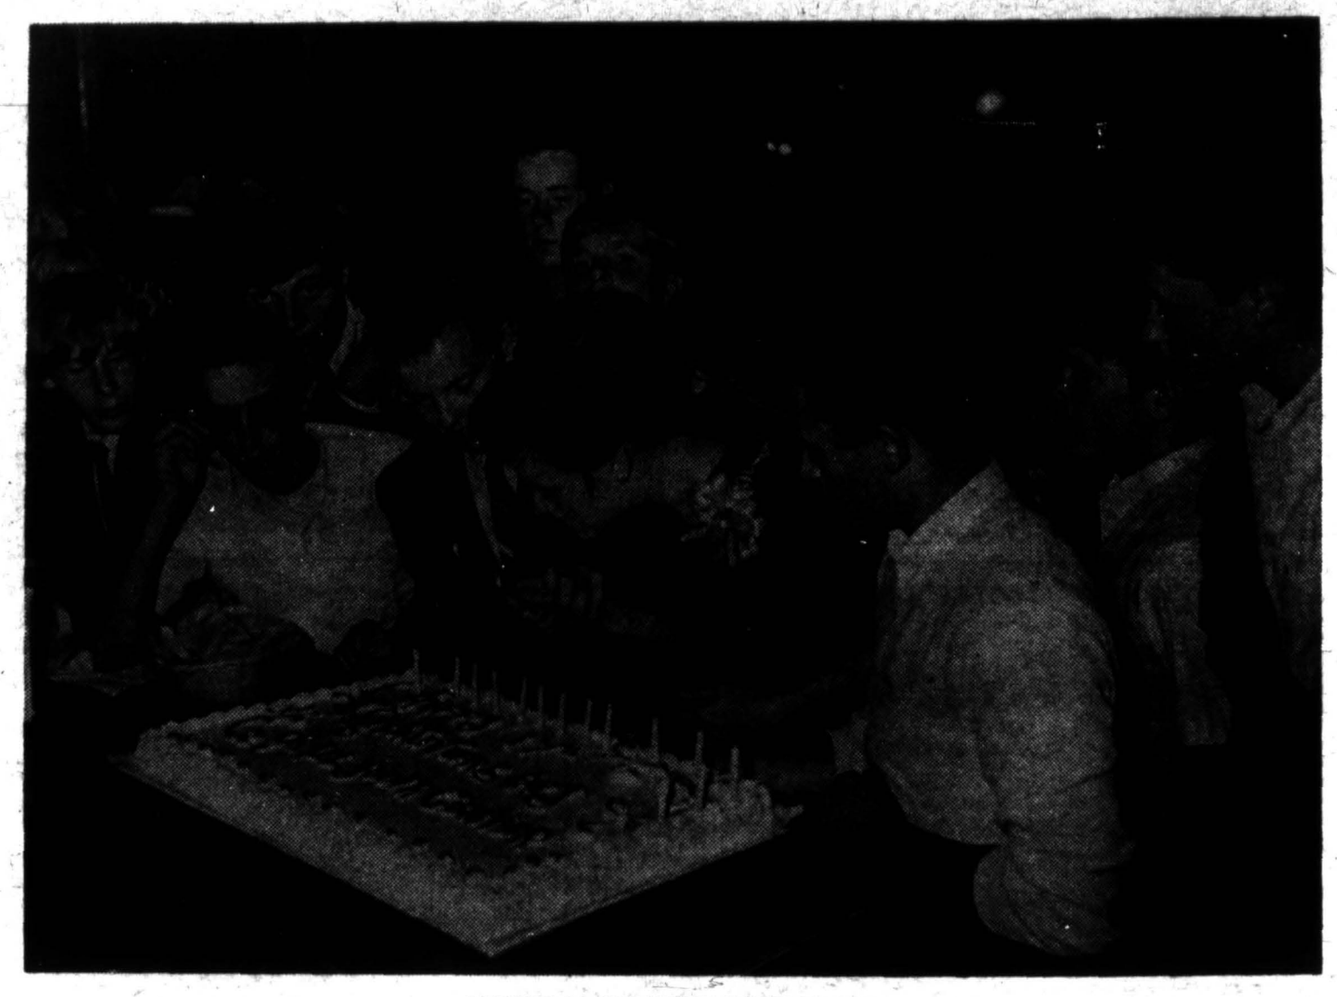

Headmaster and President Robert U. Ricklefs gave an inspiring review of the "State of Stevenson" that parents were delighted to hear. Highlights of these remarks will be included in the RLS Thanksgiving message next week.

MONTESSORI SCHOLARSHIP BENEFIT

The Carmel Art Association Gallery will be the scene of a scholarship benefit for Childrens' School — Montessori, November 18 at 8 p.m. A film, "Bringing Up Baby," with Katherine Hepburn and Cary Grant will be followed by champagne and music.

Three local artists — Richard Rodriguez, Valerio Giusi, and Renee Miller Alberts—have donated paintings for which there will be drawings that evening.

At present the school, which takes children aged two and one-half to six, has three scholarship students. Nadya Giusi directs the school of 30 children with a staff of four teachers.

YOUTH CENTER BIRTHDAY

Fourteen candles mark the age of the Carmel Youth Center on the birthday cake about to be cut by Pam Baldwin, past president, and John Rennels, activities chairman of Carmel's teenage recreation facility. Randy Newman, vice president, with arm on table, supervises. The cake cutting took place following the fashion show presented by youth center members on October 29. A dance was part of the birthday festivities, too.

TRAVEL SECTION

CAVIAR FOR BREAKFAST

by Arthur Porter

Summer in Shanghai, China, 1928. Hot and humid as always. Nanking Road, the main thoroughfare, teeming with life. Noisy, smelly. Crowded sidewalks. The road full of cars, trucks, rickshas, wheelbarrows, bicycles, controlled up to a point by the huge bearded Sikh policemen. Inside the Cathay Hotel, Sir Victor Sassoon's large and luxurious baby, past the elegant shops—one then owned by a dressmaker now firmly established as a big name coutouriere in New York—there lay a cavernously beautiful air-conditioned lounge which I headed for as a brief respite from the heat and turmoil outside together with a large very cold lemonade. I felt I needed it. I was leaving China, perhaps forever, after so many interesting and happy years, and I had wanted to find a really unusual method of journeying to Europe, but after an exhausting tour of all the offices of the travel agents, steamship lines and so on, nothing had been presented to me that I had not done before during many and varied travels. I was almost prepared to admit a reluctant defeat when I saw sitting across the lounge the mother of a friend of mine being handed a similar soothing potion by the deft and obsequious "Boy". Remembering my friend had told me she was soon going to Europe, as she often did, over I went and told her of my experience and asked her how she was travelling.

"Oh" she said, "I usually go Hard Class on the Trans-Siberian Railway." I sat up then. So alert that I spilled my drink. Hard Class, Trans-Siberia! Now here was something. "Tell me more" I urged. "How do you go about it?" I felt with all due respect at that time that if this perfect but elderly lady could do it "usually," I could, at least, try it once!

First of all, apparently one purchased rail tickets from a travel agent for what seemed practically nothing and meal tickets for the dining car and, in case the food served there was impossible, bought a box of foodstuffs. Last but very far from least, a rubber "Li-lo" attress to inflate and place over the very thin cotton one placed on the "shelf" where one slept. She said there were four such shelves in each compartment, hinged, and pushed up during the day, and that there was no segregation of the sexes. I began to thrill with excitement—something really new and novel!

I did exactly as I was told and within a few days was aboard the crack Peking Express and, of course, very comfortable. At Peking we changed over from the Chinese National Railway to the Manchurian and finally at the Russian border we saw the USSR train waiting there.

Before boarding it we were taken into the Customs Hall to declare currency, open baggage, answer questions. Because there did not seem to be much real communication between myself and the officer examining my effects, my entry forms were garbled and, if it had not been for an Intourist guide from the train, I think I would have missed it. It all looked pretty grim to me, so bare and inhospitable with "Workers Of The World Unite" placarding the walls, and I began to wonder if I got "in" would I get "out." Then I thought of my friend's mother "usually" travelling this way.

The "provodnik" or conductor of the train showed me my compartment already occupied by an elderly German couple who owned a hotel in Mukden, the capital of Manchuria, and a young German who had been their guest. They were kind and welcoming, and as they were old hands at the Hard Class Trans-Siberian way of life, they gave me all the information I needed in addition to plying me with sausage, cheese, ham sandwiches, of which they appeared to have an enormous supply, while my little box of foodstuffs was tucked away in a corner.

I was beginning to wonder how we could all bed down comfortably, yet modestly, on our shelves for the night without embarrassment. It was amazing how very simple it turned out to be. A visit to the dining car the next morning produced the most delicious and unusual breakfast for me—a large bowl of caviar, very good black bread and white butter. I stayed with this diet almost continuously during the trip plus the excellent nourishment supplied in the compartment by my German friends.

I believe it took about 12 days from Shanghai to Berlin. Soon it was Summer in Siberia which completely shattered my previous conceptions. It was beautiful! Forests of silver birch, great meadows of flowers and, often enough to be blase about it, mirages—trees reflected in lakes that were not there.

At the stations with their trangely unfamiliar names everyone rushed out to fill kettles and teapots with boiling water from taps on the platforms so that they could continue to drink more and more glassfuls of tea. And I had just come from China where they drank it just as copiously on their trains—green and in glasses.

In Moscow we laid over for two days, and a pretty young woman, an Intourist guide, showed us around. Red Square, dinner at the Metropole—very elegant but with a definitely proletariat atmosphere—parks, Gum, the well known department store with very little in it at that time, and, of course, the subway. Stations built of lovely colored marbles from the Urals, chandeliers, but with the travellers there looking even more depressed and dowdy by comparison.

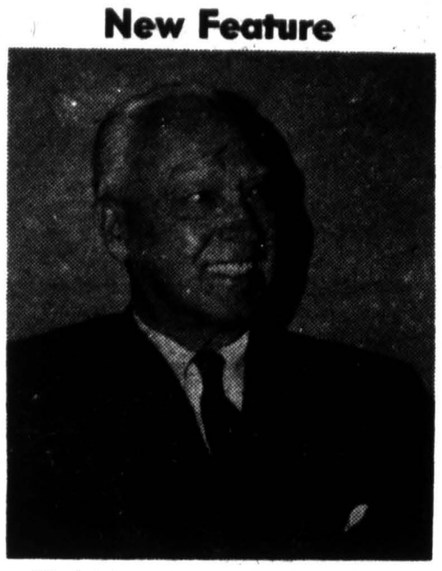

By this time I had realized the Trans-Siberian trains were not only for the hardy "Hard Class" voyagers, but one section was "Soft Class," which was something like the old-fashioned Blue trains on the Continent, and very comfortable indeed. Perhaps it was European class distinction, but I did not meet or even see any of the occupants!

New Feature

The Pine Cone's Travel Section makes its second appearance in today's issue. A much traveled resident, Arthur Porter, pictured above, is in charge of this section. He writes about one of his trips, Caviar For Breakfast, in this issue. This story will be continued next week. He is also opening a competition on the subject of My Most Interesting Trip. Prizes will be awarded to the five stories judged best, also stories submitted will be published in the Pine Cone each week for 15 weeks. Readers are asked, too, to send in questions for the Travel Tips column. These will be answered by Peninsula travel agents.

Travel Tips

QUESTION: After reading the article "Convoy to Cambodia" in last week's Pine Cone, I am wondering if it is still possible to visit fabulous Angkor with safety, and from the Bay area.

ANSWER: (By Dick Phinney Tours & Travel). No problem. You have the choice of Pan Am from San Francisco to Saigon and on to Pnom Penh, the capital of Cambodia, and thence to Siemreap by Royal Air Camobodge. Or by North West Airlines from San Francisco via Seattle to Hong Kong and then Air France to Pnom Penh. Or Pan Am to Singapore and then Air France to Pnom Penh. Tourists are still going in without difficulty.

We welcome the 150 European travel agents and writers who are ariving on the Monterey Peninsula in a few days. Their visit has been organized by American Express, with the blessing of the U.S. Department of Commerce. We know that they will appreciate what the famous landscape artist, the late Francis McComas, wrote when viewing the area from Point Lobos: "The greatest meeting of land and water in the world."

the hogs and gave them a shove down the chute. Amid squeals from the hogs and cheers from the crowd the men loaded the hogs aboard the San Francisco bound steamer.

For larger animals, a sort of platform was constructed, with tackle and pulleys, and held steady by a brace of horses on the cliff above. This platform, with reinforced sides to keep the small calves from falling into the ocean, was then lowered down to the water's edge and the live "cargo" taken by boats to the larger steamer anchored a half-mile off shore.

It was all very exciting! Tools, machinery and supplies from the ship were brought in for the cattlemen on return trips from the ship.

One of the joys of living in this virgin country was the wild ruggedness of it all. Sunday afternoons were spent enjoying the out-of-doors and its natural beauty. Often a group of young people would ride out to Limekiln Creek—so named because of the lime mining operation carried on in a fold of the hills up Bixby Canyon. (The operation was later abandoned and a fire some years ago destroyed what remained of the settlement.)

At one spot, in a side canyon, there was a waterfall which dropped 100 feet onto a large limestone rock. The rock, worn smooth by erosion, was a favorite drinking place for wildlife. On one particular afternoon Miss Turner and two of her pupils were riding down one of the nearby trails when they noticed a mountain lion trotting down the trail in front of them. Just to add a little excitement to the day, they spurred their horses to a gallop and chased the lion. When it realized what they were doing, it jumped into the bushes by the side of the road and vanished. Two days later a cattleman in this area killed a lion similar to the one Miss Turner and her pupils had been chasing. She bought the skin and had a rug made for her room.

Poetry and good books have always been a part of Lucile Turner's life. She is especially fond of Oliver Wendell Holmes and James Russell Lowell's work.

When one hears someone talking about a "knight of the road" the picture of a disheveled individual, wearing a crumbled hat and ill-fitting coat, comes to mind. An interesting item concerning tramps was that the cattlemen on the Sur Coast in the old days would, indeed, give their nonpaying "guests" food and lodging for a day or two just to get some NEWS—news about their neighbors ten miles away—news about towns along the coast—news from San Francisco. Newspapers were received infrequently. News was hard to come by in those days, Miss Turner remembers.

EDINN Tri-County Education Report

A research report on educational needs in Monterey, San Benito, and Santa Cruz Counties was presented this morning to Project EDINN directors at their regular monthly meeting held in Notre Dame High School, Salinas.

The report was the result of six months' work by a team of research psychologists under contract with the West Coast Office for Sponsored Research of George Washington University.

The researchers chose teachers as their primary source of information because of their closeness to students and student learning problems. Questionnaires were returned by 638 teachers, school counselors, and principals—a 75% return, considered very high in studies of this kind. Dr. Hilton M. Bialek, director of the research team, and a member of the Carmel School Board, commended the teachers for their "perceptivity and ability to discriminate among critical, important, and minor problems they feel exist in their schools."

Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

Republican election gains mean a stronger business voice in government. The stock market liked this news and, after the three usual up days following good news, withstood the downward pressure of profit taking. Some of the experts are turning from pessimists to cautious optimists.

Gerald Loeb, one of the leading experts on market trends, gave a talk in San Francisco last Friday and emphasized that he saw no recession ahead, nor did he see big trouble ahead for business profits.

It is obvious from the number of shares traded each day these past few weeks that the big institutional investors are still not investing the huge pile of cash they are holding for investment. It looks like they are investing some just in case this does turn out to be the market low. That sounds like a good policy for you to follow. It isn't any wiser to forget what inflation can do to the buying power of your cash than it is to forget that stocks can go down as well as up. Too big a percentage of your finances in either area can be dangerous.

Ex-President Eisenhower's head economist, Dr. Saulnier, recently said "So far this year (in August) the consumer price index has been rising at an annual rate of 3¾%." Five percent bank interest, minus 3¾% inflation, leaves 1¼% real increase in your cash savings buying power. When you stop to realize that at this same point (August this year) some mutual funds that have been rising over 10% per year (Fidelity Trend is one example) were up more than 5% even in the face of the recent market decline, you must conclude that it's wise to have some money in stocks.

The president of American Airlines made a couple of interesting statements in a recent speech: "In five years from now, over half the people in the United States will be under 25 years of age,"—"Today's worker gets 22 more years of leisure time than his grandfather got."—"In the next five years, the number of people making between ten and 15 thousand will increase fourfold".

Back Of The Year

team effort, the challenge—nothing compares with football!"

Danny would like to play pro football for six or seven years after graduating from college, then become a high school coach. "I like working with children." He said.

Thinking back, Danny said, "The most exciting experience in my football career was when Carmel High School beat King City in the last half minute of the game. I was a senior then. Maybe the reason the game was so exciting was because I was young. Now, I feel tired and beat after a game!"

Danny's favorite game was the San Jose State-Stanford game this season. "Our receivers were always open. And it was the first touchdown pass I ever threw. The most disappointing game was the San Diego State game. Nothing seemed to click."

When asked about the Cal game, Danny grinned. "That was fun! I thought at the time that Cal was over-rated. But they've since proved themselves to be a better team than I'd expected."

During the pre-football season, the team works out, twice a day for four hours,—then practices passing for 45 minutes at night. During the football season, players work out from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. "Our coach doesn't give pep talks" Danny said. "He's very objective.

"On Monday, we watch films of last Saturday's game, and discuss our mistakes. Then for the rest of the week, we watch films of the team we'll be playing on the coming weekend."

Danny plans to take up skiing this winter, also plans to play basketball in the San Jose City winter league.

Danny's mother, his brother, Jim, and his sister, Vicky, are living in Carmel. Jim is in the building business and Vicky attends Carmel High School. His father, Arthur Holman, was the Sunset School music teacher before his death some years ago.

How Many $$$$

The answer is that distilled spirits this year will cost the American people six billion, 200 million dollars, or on the "special" basis, four billion, 650 million dollars.

The war in Viet Nam is costing us one billion dollars a year.

And as for California, this state leads the nation in the amount of distilled spirits consumed but ranks tenth among the states in per capita consumption.

Planners Ponder

persons. The reading room would be open weekdays from 10 a.m.-9 p.m. except on Wednesday when it would close at 7:30 p.m. On Sundays, use would be from 2-5 p.m. For such use, parking on one lot was desirable.

Mauer also stated that additional parking would "help us" as the present church parking lot to the south of the proposed development was inadequate to accommodate members attending church services. A use permit is required for the reading room because the dwelling to be converted, also the proposed parking, is in the residence zone.

Chairman Dorothy von Meier referred the church's request to the commission's land use committee for study and report on December 14. She also told Mauer that it may be necessary for the church to ask for rezoning for the desired parking on one of the lots.

Commissioners recommended to the city council that the annexation to the city of one lot at the southeast corner of Monte Verde and Santa Lucia be denied. The annexation request from William H. Oliver was referred to the commission by the city council as required by law. Reasons for recommending denial were that annexation of this lot, with 60 foot frontage on city-owned Santa Lucia and 100 foot frontage on county-owned Monte Verde, would create spot zoning of a small city island surrounded by county territory, thus giving rise to access, drainage, fire and police protection problems.

The opinion of commissioners was that the Oliver request should be denied until a "more realistic" area, embracing more territory, was proposed for annexation.

World Affairs Group Hears Demographer

Speaker for the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula at Brey Hall, Carmel High School, last Monday night was Dr. S. Chandra Sekhar, the well known Indian demographer. His subject was the population explosion as it applied to India and included Communism and Red China. He pointed out that in the 1980s there will be over one billion Chinese and one person of every four in the world will be Chinese. Feeding such large masses will obviously become a staggering problem. However in the case of India, agricultural progress is such that in time that country will be free of famine.

Dr. Sekhar said that foreign aid is being extended to India by five nations, the greatest being given by America, Russia taking the second position. Despite the Russian influence, he said that even though America might find it necessary someday to withdraw its aid, this would not mean India would embrace a communistic government. The Indian does not like to be told what to do by his government and he does not like government conformity forced upon him.

In closing his talk, Dr. Sekhar mentioned that, although he is a 100% supporter of the Johnson policy in Viet Nam, it is an Asiastic affair. The countries that should be involved, for example, are India, Burma, Iran, Thailand, the Indonesias, Japan, and the Phillipines. The difficulty is, however, that they can't afford to suppress the aggressor. He pointed out that China is obviously directing the aggression and will fight it out to the last Vietnamese.
